

fce. TODAY

The Official Publication of the National Association for Family & Community Education

Greetings National FCE members,

I am excited to begin my term as your National President. I am so grateful for the past presidents and all they have taught me about leadership, tolerance, and patience!! I have already needed all three of those characteristics!!!

I would like to thank everyone for the great gift packet you showered on me at the installation in July. Many of your gifts have already been put to use in my office!!! I have tried to send thank you notes to all of you, however, the bag ripped and everything went flying. Many of the cards were separated from the gifts and so I had to guess!!!

I have set several goals for my presidency and two of the main goals are #1, to increase membership nation-wide. The membership committee is working on a new plan that will help you recruit new members, retain current members, and help you help members to start a new club. And #2, to continue to improve communication between National FCE and the state organizations. I have asked that the executive committee write letters to their state counterparts dealing with issues specific to their position, and communicating their goals to the state officers. These letters will go out to all state officers early in 2013. Communication is a two way street. State officers and members need to communicate with us as well. Let the national officers and other board members know what you need. We will try and get an answer to you as soon as we can. Also, let us know when good things are happening. I will need your help to accomplish both of these goals. And please remember, there are certain things Judy Jones at Headquarters cannot do for you. You will need to contact us with those issues.

The board met the end of September at HQ for our fall board meeting. We had some training as well as put together conference for 2013. We are excited and think we have a great conference planned for you. Elsewhere in this issue you will find the conference registration form, president's day information, hotel information, and information on most of the workshops that will be taught at conference.

The theme for conference is "Operation Readiness." Last year at conference Dr. Jo encouraged us to become more active, because physical activity is linked to better brain activity. We know that overall, America's children as well as adults are getting heavier and less physically fit. As an organization we know we need to begin to focus on a younger membership. We teach a lot by example, so we need to be at our best to be able be READY for the younger members we are going to get! As part of that, we are encouraging you to "Walk to Conference." Several years ago we had the same challenge from past president Harriett Steenson, and several members participated. I hope many of you will take the challenge! Keep track of your distance and see how close you come to getting to Fargo! If you are already walking you can estimate how far you have gone since last conference in Kentucky! Get those shoes on and get going!!! There will be prizes!

We had to drop the ability to take credit card orders on the web site. Various banking rules and regulations have changed and our web site was not Payment Card Industry (PCI) compliant. That means we could not meet the standards set by the credit card industry. As a board we looked at several different options and the costs, and felt that we do not process enough credit cards on the web site to justify the cost involved in making the web site compliant. We know this will be an inconvenience to a few of you and for that we apologize.

ACWW initiated "Women Walk the World" in 2012 and are encouraging participation again this year. The event is April 29, 2013. Further information is available at www.acww.org.uk.

New Hearth Fires for 2013

The theme for this year's conference is “Operation: Readiness”, and we've tried to provide you with some of this readiness with our new Hearth Fires for the 2013 conference. We're trying to address different age groups again this year.

One of our Hearth Fires deals with chronic pain – “Someone's asking...What is Chronic Pain?” How many times have you said “Oh my aching back; I just ache all over” or “I sure wish this headache would go away.” These are some of the things at someone with chronic pain might say most of the time. Hopefully we can give you ideas about what it is, what you might do to keep it at bay, and what to do if you or one of your loved ones has chronic pain.

Another is for the teenager in your life – “Dress for Success – Teen Edition.” We ask the question, and provide some guidance on the outfit that your teen thinks is super cute and really rocks as to whether it is the best outfit for a job or college interview. It will teach your teen how to dress appropriately for any important meeting, and come out a winner.

Our last new Hearth Fire is for everyone. It's called “Is There a Vaccine to Cure Rudeness?” It deals with civility. Civility goes beyond good manners. It's an attitude of respect toward others. It's waving with all of your fingers. It's really listening to another's point of view without interrupting. Civility is the glue that holds society together and the lubricant that allows society to dialogue with each other.

All of these will provide laughs, activities, and new ideas for you to ponder.

We will also have a demonstration on how to use the FCE Friends Storybooks with your younger family members and friends.

Hopefully you'll be able to attend at least 2 of the presentations and be able to take these great programs back to your state, county, and club meetings.

A COMFORTING CUP FOR THE COMMON COLD

Prepare a cup of healing tea by steeping equal parts of cinnamon, sage and bay leaves in hot water. Cinnamon has antibacterial properties, sage works as a natural expectorant and bay leaves help clear congestion. Steep for 5 minutes, strain, and just before drinking, add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Sweeten with a little honey, if you desire.

Volunteering

What Is Your Style of Learning?

Ardyce Snyder and Rita Charlton will be presenting this workshop. There are several ways to gain knowledge and one of the predominant ways is through your style of learning. Are you a visual, auditory or kinesthetic learner? Do you know that your style of learning helps you utilize your skills and the skills of your volunteers for the benefit of your organization? This FCL workshop will help you determine your style or styles of learning and how to use them to your best ability.

Taking the training available at FCL Day will not only help you gain hours toward your certification, it will also help you keep your leadership skills strong. And who knows; you may learn something new!!!

Remember to fill out the conference registration form in this issue. Why not do it today? There is no extra cost to attend FCL Day. WHAT A BARGAIN!

There are lots of things beyond our control: short stature, big bones, receding hairline. Fortunately, character is different. That's completely within our control.

NAFCE Alumni Fundraisers

The National FCE Board Alumni will hold the following fundraisers in Fargo, ND:

DOLLARS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS auction will be held at a luncheon and all the $$$ will go to fund the Scholarships for 1st time attendees who apply for a Scholarship (paid registration) to conference. We are asking YOU to bring an item worth at least $10 and it will be auctioned off for this cause. The FCE aids in Funding Cancer Education DECORATED PANTIES AND BOXER CONTEST is new this year. Remember those decorated bras in years past? This is the same concept. Please bring decorated ladies panties and/or men's boxer shorts on a hanger with a title representing your decorated panty and/or boxer as we did with the bras that made us aware of breast cancer. The Alumni hopes that the decorated panties or boxers will increase our awareness of cervical cancer and prostate cancer. Everyone will drop $$ in a box for their favorite panty/boxer. We will give a prize to the winner in each category with the most $$ collected. You may take your items home and maybe do the same contest in your state. We can all use more awareness on cancer! And this would draw more attention to FCE! Try it!

The auction funds will go towards speakers and/or education on these two cancers. If you or someone you know has had one of these cancers, you know we all need to be more aware. Cancer does not know age, it hits the young as well as the old. We hope you will join in the fun and we have lots of cute decorated panties and boxers! Any questions, contact me.

Thanking you in advance,

GUYS ON BOARD

For a number of years Oregon has had at least one man serving on our state FCE board. Now we have TWO! Bernie Voltin chairs the Marketing committee, while Scott Teeples is Secretary. Both have wives who are active in FCE.

These are guys who enthusiastically think way outside the box and are comfortable in any group. To board meetings they bring their work and teaching skills plus their community contacts. They both said, "Hey, we can speak up AND follow directions".

Bernie said "No one twisted my arm" to be on the board. He suggested selling different colored fleece vests stitched with our Oregon FCE logo as a state fundraiser. It is a big hit.

Scott, who runs his own business and is a substitute teacher, can tick off new ideas for growing FCE as fast as he can talk.

Invite former FCE groups/members who left in the 1990's to rejoin our organization.

To boost a County Council's funds, his business gave a booth to the county council to place antiques, collectibles or just neat stuff to be sold.

Let's figure out how to funnel kids who are aging out of 4-H to join FCE.

Has asked to speak about FCE to high school service groups.

Contacted men he knows to volunteer in teaching a class at a community wide FCE event.

Do any other states have guys on their FCE state board?

ACWW Recommendation

National FCE was notified by Lisa Barker, Operations Manager of ACWW that the proposal submitted for a Resolution to the ACWW Ad Hoc Committee on Resolution and Recommendations was accepted as a Recommendation. This is due to the wording of the submission aligning more as a 'line of action which Societies might choose to follow' rather than a 'mandate which must be worked on'. It is also similar to Resolution 56 (Trade in Dangerous Waste, 1989). The Recommendation will be worded as follows:

"In view of the ever increasing use of electronics that pollute the environment, the members of ACWW are urged to do all they can to ensure e-waste is recycled and disposed of safely and responsibly to prevent further damage to the environment."

The background information will be included on the Resolutions and Recommendations Circular. The Resolution will be presented at the ACWW Triennial in Chennai, India by Bonnie Teeples, National FCE President.

MEET YOUR BOARD

Why I am what I am because of FCE!!!

Some 36 years ago when I joined FCE I had no goal of going any farther in the organization than a “member”.

Within five years I had been elected County Council President and the rest is history as they say. During that first year I attended my first state conference and was hooked.

I’m different because of the education I gained through all the many lessons both from Kansas and from National FCE. It really is a good education in a wide variety of topics. When a topic may seem boring or uninteresting by the name I usually do learn at least one thing.

I know so much more about parliamentary procedure than before FCE. And it too is interesting to me. I was fascinated by the professionalism of the board at the first state conference I attended.

One of the biggest changes I think that I am because of FCE is that when I do some writing or work of any kind and I then ask someone to review it for me, I’m almost upset when they say (at first glance) it looks fine to me. I have learned to take criticism better than at any other time in my life.

During my first year as Kansas Vice President, I received one of the computers that National FCE had given to states. That machine has led to a whole new world also. The Kansas educational lessons were mailed to another person in our state to put into printable form. In my third year as VP I did them myself.

Every time my son-in-law would visit I would have three things that I wanted to do on the computer but did not know how. He had the patience to help me and it was fun. I then took a basic computer course at our local junior college to learn even more. I’m still not an expert but it is so much fun helping others on some of the things that I do know.

If it had not been for that computer given to me I might still not have one. I’m the only one of my siblings that has one and I am the only one in my club that has one. I probably know more people without than with a computer.

Anne has been married to Art Engen for 45 years. They met on a blind date when Anne was a freshman at Linfield College. After 2 1/2 years of dating, Art said either say you will marry me or I won’t see you ever again. Anne replied “I’ll starve to death”. Art said, “Good, we’re engaged”. I never really said yes! We have a daughter Beth and a son Matt, two granddaughters, Minori and Kayleen in college and two young grandsons, Brent in 3rd grade and Trevor in Kindergarten.

Anne has been a member of FCE for 39 years. When asked why she ran for the National board she replied: “I had been asked numerous times to run for a board position, but the time wasn’t quite right. Finally, I thought if I wait too much longer I wouldn’t have the energy. So glad I made that leap of faith”.

What keeps her busy? My only ‘paying’ job is as the Wedding Coordinator for my large church. I volunteer as a Stephen’s Minister, a trained lay person who walks beside their Care Receiver providing emotional and spiritual care - “being the loving hands and heart of Jesus”, someone who listens, encourages. I also oversee the care of a 93 year old church woman who has no family.

Of course I’m an active member of my “Creative Homemakers” study group. When we started the group some of us were pregnant. We named ourselves the “Yamhill County Young Homemakers”. As the years rolled by, when our name was called at FCE functions other people started to snicker. We had to change our name! We got the last laugh ‘cause we started winning all the ‘creative’ contests at FCE functions.

I spend a great deal of time spoiling my hubby with delicious food, freshly washed clothes and clean bathrooms.

Betty Schalk is married to Tom. They have 3 children – Ken and wife Cheryl, their children Marah and Tasha are in college in Kansas City. Robbie and wife Sonya have two children, Logan (high school) and Jo (middle school) and daughter Sandy and husband Pleasant, their children Billy in college and Amber a junior in high school. They live in a rural country side. They are both retired. Tom retired from General Motors.

Betty has been a member of FCE for 33 years. When asked why she ran for the National board she replied “I have gained so much from FCE that I want to repay some of the skills. I was nominated as a young homemaker in 1990 and attended my first conference a few years later. I will never forget the confidence building mentors and friends that I made. I was a shy country girl with no experience in presenting a simple lesson, much less presenting to a room full at a conference. Great leadership gently pushed me along.”

Betty keeps busy at being retired. She says “You know that means you are asked to do lots of volunteering. Of course, that is what I love to do. I am Director of Children’s Church, am on the Butler County Fair Board, Extension Council, work with Grandparents Raising Grandchildren, a presenter at Women Aware, and Vice President of our Square Dance Club. I have started oil painting again, which I love.” And of course we know she is busy in FCE at all levels!!!

2013 Conference Service Project

Walk to Conference??!

Well, not really, but you are being challenged to WALK!

At the 2012 conference Dr. Jo, our closing session speaker, challenged us to be more active. She told us that research shows that being physically active increases oxygen to the brain. It helps the portion of the brain that helps us learn and remember. Not to mention the benefits to our body.

On the GeoMotion web site, Kathleen Sebelius, Secretary of Health and Human Services in 2010 is quoted as saying, "An active lifestyle, combined with healthy eating, is the number one way to prevent obesity and key to preventing a host of serious obesity-related diseases, including high blood pressure, diabetes, heart disease, and asthma. But physical activity also raises energy levels and sharpens concentration for adults. No matter what your age is, exercise can strengthen your heart and your bones. It brings down your stress level."

Dr. Jo challenged us to "Secure our own mask first". So our challenge to you is to "secure your own mask" and get moving!! Or as Dr. Jo says "Move to Improve"

For those of us that do not have a regular walking routine we are asking you to keep track of your steps and convert them into miles. Yes, we said miles!!! Many of our members already walk several times a week, for those members we are asking that you increase your walking.

You can find information in many places telling you how many steps equal one mile. Some information lets us know how to calculate our height and stride length to give us an "accurate" amount of our steps in a mile. To simplify we are going to use an average. The typical number of steps in a mile is between 2,000 and 2,500. For our purposes we will use 2,200. So for every 2,200 steps you take you have walked a mile.

For the challenge you need to figure how many miles you live from Fargo, North Dakota, times that by 2,200 steps and that gives you the amount of steps you need to take to get to conference!!!

Well, I'm out of here!! I need to get walking, don't want to be late! (Or not get there)

(Pssttt, there will be prizes!)

Fill out the form below and bring it to conference.

Improvements I saw in my health and well being:

In years past we have been bringing new and gently used children's books that we have donated to various Children's Hospitals and Pediatric wards. The board wants to thank you for your willingness and your generosity in donating for these service projects.

This year we are going to ask that you bring items for school children. It is a "A School Supply Drive" to help with the children's "readiness" for school. In many areas the demand for school supplies for children is overwhelming. We hear about car dealerships sponsoring a "Fill the bed of a pick-up" United Way Organizations sponsoring drives for school supplies, and many of our own county councils participate in similar drives.

Joan Geyer, the 2013 Conference Chair contacted The United Way in Fargo ND, and they always do a school supply drive for children in need. They were so excited that this was chosen for the community service project at our National Conference. Below is a list of items that are needed. 2013 National FCE Conference – FARGO, NORTH DAKOTA

The 2013 National FCE Conference will be held in Fargo, North Dakota – July 18-21, 2013! North Dakota is SO excited to host this conference and to share our state with our FCE friends! So get ready to ENJOY!

As On-Site Conference Chair – I want to give you just a taste of what you will be doing in Fargo!

State Presidents ... tour on Thursday, July 18. After you practice your processional for the Thursday evening Opening Ceremony you will hop on the bus and head for the Hjemkomst Interpretive Center in Moorhead, Minnesota. You'll see the Viking Ship which is permanently housed in the center and built by Robert Asp and his family and sailed to Norway in 1982. The museum inside the Hjemkomst Center is managed by the Historical and Cultural Society of Clay County and I'm told there will be an exhibit on pioneer women artists. Located on the grounds of the Hjemkomst Center is the Stave Church, a symbol of the Norwegian heritage in the Red River Valley. You will all have lunch at the Hjemkomst. Then you will take in the Fargo Downtown Street Fair to shop, be entertained, sample some fair food, and purchase North Dakota handmade articles. The streets will be alive with music and entertainment.

Some Conference Activities: The Spirit of ND Luncheon, Leadership Training, "Healthy Living" Workshops, Dress for Success, ACWW Walk and Walk Awards, Entertainment by a local "Radio Show" group, new Hearth Fire presentations, "Be the Best American" workshop, Digital Citizenship workshop, and Recycled Plastic Bag Coin Purse workshop.

Leadership Benefit: Dinner followed by entertainment by The Voyageur People. Besides being entertained, you will be learning history of the area through French-Canadian and French-Indian Dance. You will "see" the history of Minnesota and the Upper Midwest come alive as French voyageur and fur trader "Jean-Christophe" paddles and dances his way from Quebec to the Boundary Waters through land that was once called New France. You will meet his French-Ojibwe family and discover how the customs, clothing, and dance of these two cultures blended to create a large part of our regional heritage. FCE members will have the opportunity to learn French words, sing a voyageur song, and master canoe paddle tricks!

Sunday morning Inspiration: you will be part of a wonderful inspirational session of music and stories of North Dakota Pioneer Women.

Closing Speaker: Patrick Kasper an internationally known dancer, singer, choreographer, performer, and creator of Positive Motion, a dance exercise program that inspires, motivates, and encourages people of all ages to make fitness a part of their daily lives in a fun and creative way. With his program Patrick aims to educate and inform everyone about the benefits of living in Positive Motion, including improved health, self-esteem, and general well-being and leading happier, fuller lives. Patrick has appeared on Oprah and is one of Rachael Ray's "incredible people." We are going to have such a good time during Patrick's session!

Remember...you do not have to be an officer (County, State, National) to attend the National FCE Conference. All you need is to be a member of this great organization or come as a guest (we love guests).

Come to North Dakota.

Come to Learn! Come to renew friendships. Come for fun. Come to make new friends. Come to dance and sing! Come to see North Dakota. Come for the food! Come for the laughs. Come to strengthen your FCE focus.

Come...to Fargo!

Our History, A Legacy to our “Now”

“The first NEHC Week was held in 1946 with the theme “Today’s Home Builds Tomorrow’s World.” NEHC Week continued annually until 1962, then resumed in the 1970’s. It was celebrated the first full week of May through 1991. Beginning in 1992 NEHC Week will be celebrated the second full week of October.” From (“An Official History” 1936-1990 page 24.)

“The October 6-9 1947 annual conference met at Jacksons Mill, State 4-H Camp, West Virginia with 505 attending. The theme was “Harmony in the Home- Order in the Nation- Peace in the World”... From (“An Official History” 1936-1990, page 25.)

Can you see some correlations to what we do in FCE today? As members we are still concerned about issues relating to the home, community, nation and the world. Our educational material still addresses these same thoughts. The projects we do still work toward solving the same issues. We just do it a little differently now. Our Mission Statement and our Vision Statement both give us the drive to work toward the same end that our members in the 1940’s wanted. Great homes, good communities and a world safe for our families. Indeed, our very name the “National Association for Family and Community Education” reflects what our “foremothers” in NEHC wanted for this great organization.
